his eyes to the changes. John Kerby Drew the Plans. The plans for the Orchard street ng were drawn by John Kerby, of Tremont avenue. Mr. Kerby is an man. He has been in the building inces for over forty years and is well wn in the Twenty-third Ward. With ounger son he carries on the business draughtsman at the address given, and lives at 2034 Bathgate avenue.

Until three years ago another son in E. Kerby, was in business with his er. They lost a lot of money on a Harlem real estate transaction, and then John E. Kerby was compelled to seek a position. He passed a civil service examination for the position of Examiner in the Building Department, and secured it. He is a Tammany man, and Henry D. Furroy, then Fire Commissioner, which had charge of building matters, which had charge of building matters, which had charge of building Department it is the duty of John E. Kerby to be upon plans for buildings filed with the Department. There is one other examiner, whose name is Walte. Thus it will be seen that John E. Kirby is in a position to pass upon the plans and iem real estate transaction, and the perilications which his father, John serby, the draughteman, may submit. In this instance both ekrbys claim has the course mentioned was not pursued, and that on the original plans filed he name of Examiner Waite will appear to having approved of them.
When John E. Kerby was seen at his some by an "Evening World" reporter last night he told an apparently straightforward story, and, in fact, seemed anxious that the public should understand all about his connection with the

Son. "There is nothing whatever for us to second" he said, "nor do I understand by the facts should not have been wen out before unless it be that Suptrady prefers waiting to explain everying at the inquest."

Frady prefers walting to explain everything at the inquest.

"It was my father who drew the plans in this case. Until three years ago I was in business with him. but then taking my present position I had to give pall outside work. As a matter of fact I never saw the plans at all, and had nothing whatever to do with the draughting of them. I never saw the plans at all, and had nothing whatever to do with the building of the ground.

"I doubt very much if my father ever saw the building of the ground."

I doubt very much if my father ever saw the lots before drawing the plans. It not building of the managements of the place and the measurements of the place and the mount in my father ever saw the plans are filed in the Department they are sent upstairs to the examiners, and fortunately for me these plans went to Mr. Waite. After he had approved of them they were sent to the Besond Deputy, Mr. Horner, and then to the First Deputy Superintendent, Mr. Vreeland. I do not think Mr. Brady himself ever saw the plans. It would be a physical impossibility for him to see all plans, at he has to direct everything in the Department. He could not find time.

"Now I want to say that these plans "Taking Sucil Nostrums."

"Now I want to say that these plans are all right, and compiled with every requirement of he law. It is for the Coroner's lary to determine whether or not the plans were deviated from. That the plans were deviated from. That the plans were deviated from. That the plans were changed is certain, but even with the change. Mr. Lennon could easily have worked within the law by saving freproof halls and stairways.

"Goples of all the plans and specifications are now at my father's office, and any one who desires can see them."

Mr. Kerby had stated that he had never resen the Orchard street building. The repoiter asked if he had not visited the place yesterday with the Coroner's Jury, Yes, I d'q, was the rep.y. "But attended the hearing and accompanied the jury to the Orchard street place as an official o' the Department, having been detailed to do so."
